A tribute to Dirk Bogarde

BRAVO

Bravo pays tribute to Dirk Bogarde this October with a selection of his greatest films every Saturday at 8pm. October 3, 8pm marks the start of the season with Julie Christie starring as "Darling" a beautiful model who uses men to gain fame and fortune. The film depicts her turbulent, and, finally tragic love affairs with Bogarde, a family man who leaves his wife for her, Laurence Harvey, her agent, and a rich Italian prince. Julie Christie won an Oscar for Best Actress in this movie which, at the time, was extremely controversial with its treatment of orgies and abortion. The rest of the month's line-up includes The Mind Benders (10th), The Sleeping Tiger (17th) and Accident (24th).

Dirk Bogarde and Julie Christie star in one of the big hits of the 1960s, Darling — showing as part of the Dirk Bogarde season on October 3.

The last laugh

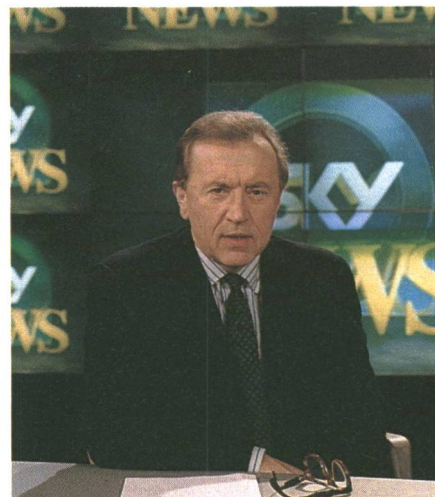

At 11pm on September 30 The Comedy Channel will cease transmission and will close down. The more popular comedy programmes on this channel will move to Sky One over the coming months.

Please note that the Cable Guide Magazine is compiled on behalf of the entire Cable Network throughout the UK. This means that some channels mentioned within the Guide may not be available to Videotron customers. Please refer to the Programming section on page 1 for Videotron's current choice of channels.

That was the President that was

"The excitement of the American elections, apart from the conventions which are terrific spectacles, is that this is not just the election of the President of the United States, but the president of the Western world, of the free world, of half the world, whatever way you put it, so it gives an added drama to everything".

So says the man who will be interviewing the man who is and the man who wants to be! David Frost will be talking to both President George Bush and his White House rival Governor Bill Clinton in this month's edition of Talking with David Frost on Sky News. The programme will broadcast just four days before the 1992 American Presidential Election on Saturday 31 October at 10.30am.

Subscribe to Sky Sports by October 1

Remember that from October 1 1992 Sky Sports becomes a pay channel and will only be available to customers who have chosen to subscribe. The rate of £2.99 per month is in addition to your normal monthly cable package.

From October 1 customers will no longer be able to receive Sky Sports unless they have advised us that they wish to subscribe at these rates. This change is irrespective of your current package — BSkyB have told us that Sky Sports can no longer be part of a standard package and must be paid for separately.

OBSERVATION POINT

Many thanks to all the customers who have written in to me. The following is a letter and reply which I'm sure you'll find interesting reading. Don't forget for every letter published we will issue a £5 credit to the customer who sent it.

Dear Linda

First I would like to congratulate you and your staff on the new Cable Guide format, especially on the National Guide listings with a much clearer style of print and a larger selection of channels listed.

I noticed in the August issue that you listed programmes for Rai Uno, MBC etc, please do you have any plans to list the programmes for TVE in future issues? My family and I are avid watchers of TVE but there is no programme guide for this channel.

Keep up the good work Cable Guide and we would like to thank you for the entertainment that you give to us every month.

Mr Mike Welch
New Cross
London

Dear Mr Welch

Many thanks for your recent letter — I was pleased to read that you like the new look Cable Guide so much!

Regarding your request for TVE listings, unfortunately, Cable Guide are not able to carry the programme listings for this channel, since the programming details are not available in time for when the magazine is compiled (some 4 weeks before publication). However, if you have Teletext television, you can access full programme listings for TVE on the On Screen Programme Guide. Simply press your Teletext button, and make your selection.

Linda Crouch

Ps: Don't forget that Videotron only produces the first four pages of the Guide for our customers, Cable Guide is a national magazine produced for the whole Cable Industry — but I will still pass on your congratulations to Cable Guide's Editorial Team.

VISIONS

October's
Star Line-up on Cable!

PRIDE OF PLACE

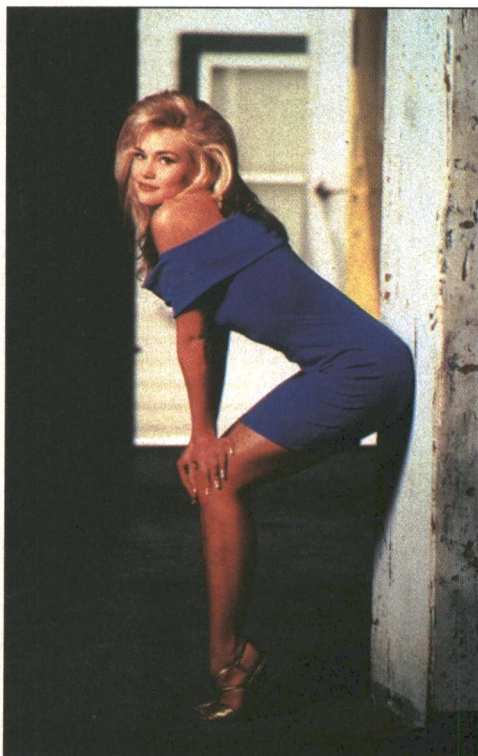

SKY ONE HAS TWO Autumn launches from America that feature young up-and-coming stars of the future.

Melrose Place follows a group of twentysomethings into young adulthood as they grapple with love, careers and the responsibilities of leaving home. Produced by the same team as Beverly Hills 90210, Melrose Place has become a big hit in the United States.

Its cast includes new stars like Grant Show, who appeared in the last few episodes of Beverly Hills 90210, and Amy Locane.

The Heights is an energetic one-hour drama that spotlights the lives of eight working class kids brought together in their quest for rock 'n' roll stardom. Reminiscent of the cult movie hit The Commitments, the series mixes sensational songs with well-crafted human drama storylines, and boasts a cast of TV newcomers including Drew Barrymore's boyfriend Jamie Walters. Watch out, too, for the forthcoming Heights album. ■

STEPHEN KING'S terrifying new mini-series IT is set in a small New England town which was plagued 30 years ago by a series of child disappearances.

The sudden death of a little girl conjures up visions of the past, prompting the formation of a group to track down the killer. But as it gets closer to the killer, the group realises that it is up against a supernatural monster. IT stars Olivia Hussey, John Ritter, Richard Thomas and Tim Curry, who plays a very unfunny clown figure.

Melissa Bell

E STREET beware! Melissa Bell is about to arrive and is going to cause one or two heated scenes.

The 19-year-old actress is playing 17-year-old Janine. Sexy and precocious, Janine is a local schoolgirl who is always after a good time and will go to just about any extreme to get the things she wants.

Her arrival on E Street will cause a lot of friction between the regular residents of Westside.

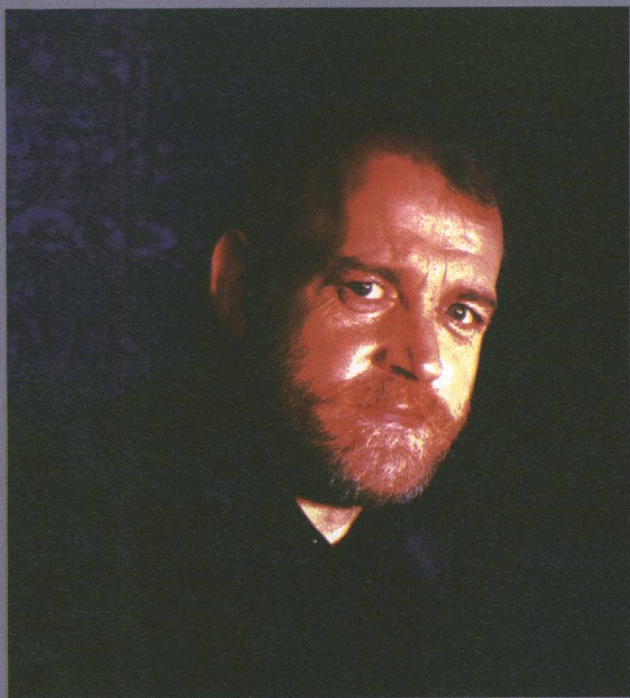

Among those who should beware of Janine are Toni Windsor (actress Toni Peren). Janine has her eyes on your boyfriend Harley, Toni!

Melissa may already be a familiar face to some soap fans. She has been playing Lucy Robinson in Neighbours.

The hazel-eyed actress has also appeared in a couple of ads, won Miss Teen Australia and been voted Miss Photographic America.

Night Caller sings the Blues

THE SEARCH FOR the most superbly gravel-throated white blues voice in the world must surely end with MTV's *Unplugged with Joe Cocker, which was recorded live at Montreux.

Born in Sheffield in 1944, Cocker has one of the truly great rock voices of all time. Working as a gas-fitter by day, but metamorphosing into Avengers front man Vance Arnold by night, Joe found chart fame under his own name in the mid-1960s with Marjorine, which he wrote with keyboards player Chris Stainton.

But it was his devastatingly gritty blues workout of the Beatles' With a Little Help from My Friends that really put him on the map, a performance that he himself excelled, incredibly, when he sang the song live at the 1969 Woodstock Festival.

Despite health and financial problems, Joe continued to have hits through the 1970s and 1980s with songs like You Are So Beautiful, I'm So Glad I'm Standing Here Today and Buff

Sainte-Marie's Up Where We Belong from An Officer and a Gentleman, a number one US duet with Jennifer Warnes.

All his recent albums have been tremendously successful, and his latest, Night Calls, went gold throughout Europe within weeks of its release.

Joe Cocker is a survivor, a star and a rock legend, enjoying hits across four decades. Success has brought with it a gruelling recording and touring schedule, but after more than 25 years on the road he has no plans to ease up.

MTV's one-hour show was recorded at the Montreux Jazz Festival earlier this year, and features tracks like The Moon is a Harsh Mistress, When the Night Comes, Unchain My Heart, The Letter, Sorry Seems to Be the Hardest Word, Feelin' Alright and the Blind Faith classic Can't Find My Way Home. ■

▲ From pub band to pub band, INXS go back to their roots

Welcome to INXS

MICHAEL HUTCHENCE AND his crew are the subject of MTV's *INXS Weekend, featuring a host of interviews, hit videos and concert footage.

Originally formed in 1977 as The Farriss Brothers, the line-up of Australian rock band INXS has remained unchanged.

Straight from high school, the band left their native Sydney and undertook a 7000 kilometre journey across the Australian interior to Perth, writing and rehearsing as they went and playing local hotels and pubs in the scattered mining towns.

In 1979 they returned to Sydney and made their live debut as the renamed INXS. By the release of their first album in Australia in 1980 they were building a following around the world and were soon Australia's premiere band.

Since then the band have become international superstars, with multi-platinum record sales and arena tours across the world, including a magnificent sell-out show at Wembley Stadium last summer and a historic AIDS benefit concert held in Sydney's Centennial Park which may have been the biggest rock concert in Australian history. Their hits include The One Thing, Original Sin, What You Need, Need You Tonight, Devil Inside, New Sensation, Never Tear Us Apart and Suicide Blonde, and their latest album Welcome to Wherever You Are is both a journey back to their sweaty pub roots and the start of an exciting pilgrimage to pastures new. Welcome. ■

Hogan hero?

WHO NEEDS Hulk Hogan?

Cable Guide speculated about his rumoured return in August but I think most fans can do without him.

He's over the hill and should stick to making those films in which he can use a stand-in for the action scenes.

Play it again

MY WIFE WOULD like to find out if cable TV will ever show the film The Gift of Love with Robert Stack. She has been trying for 20 years to see it. I have tried to get a video of it to no avail.

A Blaik, East Craigs, Edinburgh

Bravo shows vintage movies but say they have no plans to show The Gift of Love at present. However, you can be alerted by Bravo about future plans they may have to show it by writing to Jane Campbell, Viewer Relations, Bravo, Twyman House, 16 Bonnie Street, London NW1 9PG.

Sign Jimmy up

I REALLY like Sky Sports coverage of the Premier League football, especially the five-hour Sunday show. The only improvement I think it needs is to have Jimmy Hill on it giving his views. Hill has always offered illuminating insights into the game and spoken out against bad rules and new trends when he has seen fit.

Bunch time

I HAVE BECOME a great fan of Sky One's The Brady Bunch and was wondering if you could answer a few questions for me.

1. What happened to Maureen McCormick? She played Marcia Brady in the series and the The Brady Brides but then disappeared.
2. Were there any other series apart from the Brides and the Bunch?
3. Why were there so few Brady Brides made?
4. What Brady films were made and when will they be shown on Sky?

K Wiffen
Morden
Surrey

Answers

1. You are right, she disappeared! She does not appear to have made a film after 1981.
2. Yes, The Brady Bunch Hour in 1977. Also The Brady Kids cartoon.
3. Low ratings.
4. The Brady Girls Get Married in 1981 was a pilot for The Brady Brides. It is not known when it will be shown again.

Checking all of the facts...

I LOVE CABLE GUIDE. There is not a day goes by without me looking at it.

I am writing to you because I am a very, very big fan of the comedy series Facts of Life on Sky One. I have been taping every episode for the past few months. Every night I make sure I am in my house by 5.00 o'clock.

I would be pleased if you would tell me: How long has it been on Sky One?

When does the series end (hopefully never)? Most importantly, is Sky One going to repeat the whole series?

Kelly Callaway
Millbrook
Southampton

The series began on Sky One last year and the last episode will air on 2 October.

But don't despair! It will be repeated later - keep an eye on Cable Guide for details of its return.

Soap gets in your eyes!

Tears and laughter, love and murder, kisses and face slaps. While there's life there's soap so here's a tour of the top dramas on cable TV, including who to hiss and who to cheer. And on the next two pages 'Cable Guide' interviews two of soapdom's bad boys!

ANOTHER WORLD

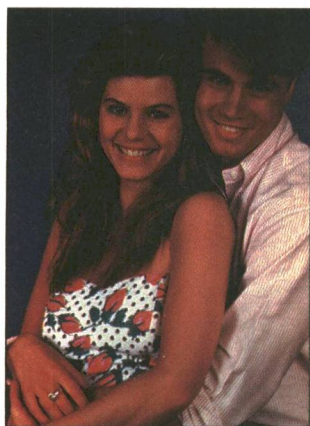

Setting: fictional American town of Bay City

Prize Rotter: the scheming and manipulative Iris Cory Carrington Wheeler (actress Carmen Duncan)

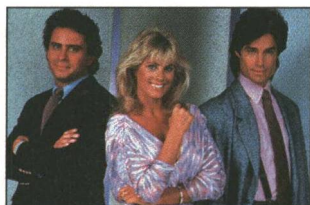

Goodie: Stacey Winthrop (actress Hilary Edson), sister and law partner to Cass Winthrop

The lives and loves of Bay City folk feature in this drama offering a dollop of romance and adventure in every episode. Three families are at its core: the Loves, Corys and Frames. This long-running show in hour-long episodes has won many Emmys, including Outstanding Drama Series, Outstanding Actor (Douglass Watson as Mackenzie Cory) and Actress (Laurie Heineman as Sharlene Frame Mathews). The epigraph 'We do not live in this world alone, but in a thousand other worlds' no longer opens each episode, probably because no one could understand it. So forget that sentiment and enjoy the action.

Drugs, rape and teenage suicide have been among the everyday themes of this socially aware drama. A big hit in Australia, where it has overtaken Neighbours as number-one soap and just won the Logie Award for the most popular TV series. Full of lively young characters and off-beat figures, like the trendy Reverend Bob Brown.

Prize Rotter: Alex Taylor (actor Jeremy Sims) is a manipulative, smooth-talking womaniser, often compared to JR Ewing Goodie: Barbara Taylor (actress Brenda Addie) is the mother of Alex. Enough said!

Double

'Cable Guide' has tracked down two of the meanest, nastiest soap characters now on Sky One to see what they have to say for themselves. Richard Huggett once wanted

WHEN I WAS about 15 I was looking for an apprenticeship,' recalls Richard Huggett of his early ambitions to follow in his father's footsteps.

'But my father always tried to put me off being a chef because of the hours. I never really saw Dad when I was growing up, because as I was getting up, he was getting home from work.'

After leaving home, Richard back-packed up and down Australia's east coast before spending six months in a hippy commune in Tasmania.

'It wasn't really a hippy commune,' he laughs. 'There were five or six guys and we lived in this dilapidated old house where we paid something like $5 a week rent. We were pretty well self-sufficient, grew our own vegies and grew up a lot.'

It was then that Richard realised that he had never really given up his childhood acting ambitions. 'I'd actually wanted to go to RADA since I was five or six, and when I reached 18 and decided I wanted to be an actor I read about a place in Australia called NIDA [National Institute of Dramatic Art].

'I had done Equus and a group of us did a self-devised piece with poetry. Then I auditioned for NIDA. There are probably 80 or 90 students all-told, and about 3500 audition.'

Finding work after graduation was no picnic. 'I was unemployed for a few months,' he recalls. 'But the first year I got a couple of radio plays and a bit part in Home and Away. Then I went for a screen test for the role of Harley in E Street, which I didn't get. But they rang me up later and asked me if I wanted to do this other part.'

'This other part' was that of Lisa's psychopathic brother Sonny Bennett.

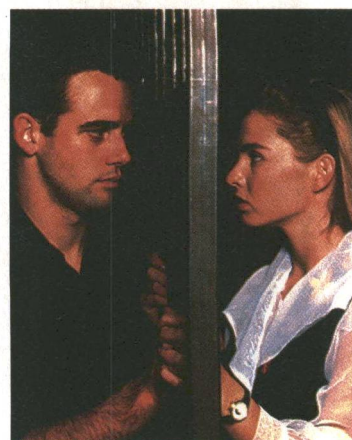

'Sonny had been in jail for armed robbery,' says Richard, filling in the background to events not seen on screen. 'When he comes out he knocks on his sister's door and says he wants to go straight. But he's really bent on revenge, because he's had five years thinking about getting back at the people who put him there. The only person he really cares about is Lisa.'

IT WAS GREAT FUN playing Sonny,' Richard enthuses. 'He's got an amphetamine addiction, so I read up on that, and talked to people who'd been into it. And I watched prison documentaries over and over again, and just added my own bits and pieces.'

The shooting schedule on E Street is merciless, running from seven till seven and sometimes longer. 'It was tough, because the character was so tiring mentally and physically. I had a lot of minor stunts, like fights, to do, and being there for 12 hours really takes it out of you. Once we worked through to 5.00am.'

It was E Street that brought Richard to fame, winning him the Logie Award for Most Popular New Talent in 1991. 'I'd become well-known and developed a bit of a cult following,' he chuckles. 'Crazy people come at you all the time. I never get any weird letters, but I do get a hell of a lot!'

Soon after this Richard was offered the part of Glen Donnelly in Neighbours. 'After Sonny, playing Glen felt really dead. Nothing ever happens in Neighbours really. Glen is just a character who wanders around, and the storylines are pretty straightforward.

▲ Sonny receives a visit in jail from Lisa

'Neighbours was very much easier. I only worked about 15 hours a week.'

He adds: 'I think Neighbours is going down the gurgler in Australia. They've run out of storylines, and the characters come and go so fast that people don't get used to them. It had its peak, and then people went to Home and Away. Now they're on to E Street.'

So with British viewers about to discover his darker side, what are Richard's plans for the future? 'I want to go into film,' he says emphatically. 'I just like movies. That's all I want to do.'

'I did a couple of films in 1989,' he recalls, 'and there are things in the air all the time. But money is the problem with every producer in Australia at the moment. I'll probably go to America and try it over there.'

In the meantime, Richard Huggett is appearing in ANZACS Over England at the Swan Theatre in Worcester. But hurry! The last performance is on Saturday 3rd. ■ JEREMY ISAAC

to be a chef but instead he became a recipe for aggro on 'E Street'. Jeremy Sims insists that 'Chances' viewers actually enjoy watching the dirty deeds of his devious character!

CHANCES

JEREMY SIMS remembers the first time he was struck by his emerging fame as Alex the upwardly mobile womaniser in Chances.

'The show had been on air for about a week,' the Australian star told Cable Guide. 'I was catching a train from where I lived because I didn't have any money. This guy on the train was staring at me. I thought, Uh oh, I've been recognised. Lots of stops went by and he'd been watching me for ages. It was weird.'

'Eventually I got off at my stop and he yelled after me: "Where's your bloody Porsche now, Alex?"'

Chances, the Aussie soap that goes skin deep by regularly unclothing its characters, has made 26-year-old Jeremy a hot property. Sky One fans following the dramas of the Taylor family in the aftermath of their $3-million lottery win will have seen Jeremy's character as just one among many.

But in Australia, where the plot is over a year ahead of here, Alex has become the central character. 'You are on about episode 32 here. It changes completely when you get to episode 60,' says Jeremy.

'It jumps forward a year. Alex has lost his memory. Everybody else is the same but the audience follows the programme from Alex's viewpoint.'

'I didn't expect Chances to become a vehicle for Alex. But research showed that everyone wanted to know what happened to Alex all the time.'

Commuting by train is a thing of the past today and Jeremy and his girlfriend, actress Kym Wilson, live the celebrity lifestyle. 'The pros outweigh the cons when it comes to getting good tickets for this or not having to queue for that,' says Jeremy.

On top of virtually hijacking his first venture into TV, Jeremy has had to turn down offers of film work and he will probably soon be directing episodes of Chances as well as starring in them.

Women find his wicked character compelling; producers find the actor has star quality. It has been an impressive start for someone straight out of drama school.

THE OFFER to play Alex was made to Jeremy while he was at Australia's National Institute of Dramatic Art.

'I knew I would be offered something on TV because I had had a lot of interest,' he says.

But it had to be the right role. 'It had to be a really good character. That's what Alex was. If you are going to do Othello everyone wants to be Iago. The bad guys are the most fun to play.'

And he had no qualms about

using his talents on a soap opera. 'There was a time when NIDA graduates just didn't go on soaps,' says Jeremy.

'Times are very different now. Most actors in Australia realise that if you are young and you want to have a career that will give you the best roles over a period of time you really need some sort of television profile.'

'The easiest way to achieve that is to spend a couple of years on a soap and make sure that you are good. If the industry says you are not very good then you will probably never work again and that certainly happens to people.'

Jeremy has clearly been a stunning success in his apprenticeship. He would like eventually to land a part in a big Hollywood movie, a psychological thriller would be fine. 'I would also love to make a good old fashioned cop movie. I'd enjoy playing any character with a bit of malevolence and intelligence in them.'

Once cast as Alex, Jeremy 'worked hard for the first year to make Alex an interesting character. I made him psychologically complex so that he felt guilt.'

Alex is the most evil and libidinous character since JR donned a stetson but he has some redeeming features.

'If he does something really, really bad he may be unrepentant about it but then he'll do something to make everyone go, Ah, he's not such a bad bloke after all.'

'I never get hate mail for him. People generally write to say how they enjoy watching the things Alex does.' ■ ROBIN JAROSSI

Naked truth

Chances has brazenly injected nudity into the staid world of soap opera. When the drama shifts to the bedroom, the audience is invited along. The actors' contracts contain nudity clauses, which has led to some reported unhappiness among the cast. Former Miss Australia Natalie McCurry (who played Rebecca Young) left the show after a disagreement about her disrobing duties.

Jeremy Sims, who plays Alex Taylor, told Cable Guide: 'The actors are told what is required. If they want the role they can have it. As an actor you have to work out how much you want to do. You tend to find that the people that found it difficult were the people that couldn't act. If you are playing a character who is nothing like you then it's not hard to have that person take their clothes off. That's part of the skill of being an actor. The nudity is at times gratuitous and that's when it annoys me.'

The Swedes are not so green

THE SWEDISH ARE coming! That's the cry being heard throughout the world of golf. It happened in tennis during the 1970s when Bjorn Borg begat Mats Wilander who gave us Stefan Edberg.

Now it's happening in golf. Ever since the explosion in European golf in the last 10 years experts have watched the newcomers emerging throughout the continent.

Spain has been an obvious hotbed of talent with the enigmatic Seve Ballesteros and the golden boy Jose Maria Olazabal, but only Sweden has stepped forward as a training ground for potential superstars.

Swedes have just the right temperament for the world's most infuriating sport. Their inner calmness (the same ice-blooded look that Borg was famous for) gives them a natural benefit. Six players in this year's top 50 proves it.

But one Swede alone cannot a dynasty make. So as the 1990s unfold history is ready to be made. Who will be the first Swede to break into the big time?

Will it be Anders Forsbrand who finishes atop of the Volvo Order of Merit or Per-Ulrik Johansson who wins a major? Already, Sweden have won the prestigious Dunhill Cup, which is live on Screensport this month.

The Swedes swept past an impressive field last year, including a Faldo-led English team. In the final Messrs Forsbrand, Johansson and Mats Lanner took on golf's newest nation, South Africa, and, despite their opponents receiving the sympathy vote, Sweden took the title after a play-off.

This year Sweden defend against 15 teams including seeded teams such as England, America, Spain, Australia and Japan plus qualifying hopefuls like Korea, Germany and Thailand.

Screensport's golf producer Colin Mitchell has been watching all the top players throughout the season and selects the Swedes to take the bulk of the £1 million prize money.

'Sweden have to be favourites,' Mitchell says. 'Nick Faldo isn't playing for England and neither is Seve Ballesteros in the Spanish team. With Wales and Ian Woosnam losing in the qualifiers, Sweden has to fancy its chances.'

It's the eighth staging of the Dunhill Cup, which enjoys a permanent home at St Andrews, but this year will see a new format: 16 teams in four round-robin groups which guarantees at least three days of competition.

The system should allow the cream to rise and with the confidence of Sweden's finest golfers rising as well, a repeat performance is a good bet. ■

Throw-away talent!

THE 1992 Major League Baseball season reaches its climax this month with the 89th World Series. Last year's nail-biting seven-game series between the Minnesota Twins and the Atlanta Braves will be a hard act to follow. The teams in form this season have been Atlanta, Pittsburgh, Oakland and Toronto. As Cable Guide went to press the regular season had not finished so it was not possible to reveal the teams in the World Series. But in the last 10 years there have been nine different champions and it is likely that trend will be continued this month. Screensport has live coverage of the best-of-seven-game World Series starting in the early hours of Sunday 18th ■ clubs, with action interviews from the heroes and their fans.

THE PROMISE of soccer seven days a week on Sky Sports is fulfilled from 7 October when the Club Show starts.

A behind-the-scenes peek at the backroom personalities also gives an insight into the workings of each club.

Liverpool start the series and score another double of sorts. They kicked-off Sky's coverage of the inaugural Premier League and now they launch the comprehensive Club Show season.

Liverpool make another appearance on Sunday 18th (2.00pm) when they travel to Old Trafford to face their fierce rivals Manchester United.

The game is guaranteed a sell-out in the reduced capacity of United's ground, but the 34,000 squeezed in will produce the most passionate atmosphere outside the Merseyside derby.

For the inside story of Manchester United watch the Club Show at 10.00pm on Wednesday 14th.

The second weekend of October is free from Premier League fixtures so that Graham Taylor can prepare England for their 1994 World Cup qualifier with Norway at Wembley.

Lewis – Britain's fighter of the century?

SKY SPORTS has signed an exclusive three-fight deal with triple heavyweight champion Lennox Lewis, which could follow him all the way to a world heavyweight title challenge and the first title defence.

The deal will start with the world heavyweight title eliminator – Fight for the Right – against Razor Ruddock on Saturday 31 October.

Sky Sports will broadcast the clash exclusively live from the Earl's Court Arena in a ringside sports special starting at 10.30pm. The network's top boxing presenter, Gary Norman, will host the show with his regular ringside guest, former British heavyweight champion Gary Mason.

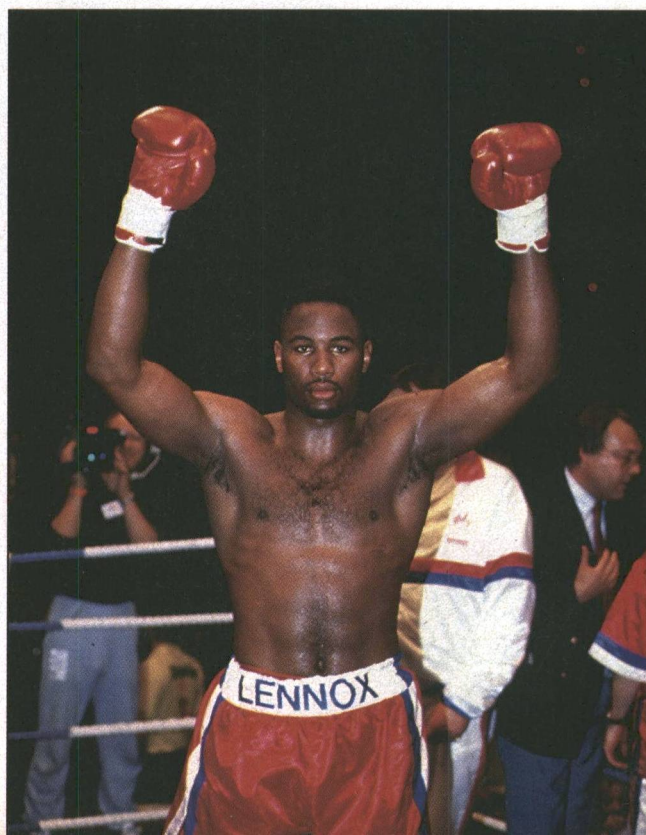

There will be regular ringside reports from roving reporter Paul Dempsey and the fight commentary will come from Ian Darke and Glen McCrory.

David Hill, Sky TV's head of sport, said: 'Over the last two years Sky has shown all the best heavyweight boxers in the world.

'By the end of this deal I am confident we will have a new heavyweight world champion and the first British boxer to win the title this century.

'The deal reiterates our commitment to bring our viewers the best in sport.' ■

Who's hot and who's not in the WWF

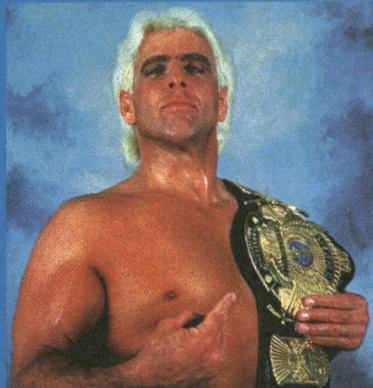

Bret 'Hitman' Hart has been competing in the USWA against Jeff Jarrett, who openly challenged Hart to a match up. This match has led to several other USWA stars challenging WWF wrestlers to inter-circuit matches. It is rumoured that Bret John Greenfield, President of the American Wrestling Fan Club, reveals the latest news from inside and outside the ring!

Hart could join his old tag team partner Jim 'The Anvil' Neidhart in the USWA circuit. Fans would be sad to see Hart leave the WWF as he is definitely the 'Excellence of Execution'.

Coco B Ware has been back in the WWF with his old tag team partner Owen Hart. Fans will know that Coco is the only superstar to be signed to four wrestling circuits at the same time, although he has spent most of his time in the USWA and WWF.

Another inside source has told me that Money Inc (aka Ted Dibiase) and Irwin R Shyster are about to split. This would confirm a rumour I heard several weeks ago of IRS signing for an independent circuit. Who knows? Money talks!

Finally, the WWF Wrestler of the Year is about to be announced. Last year Bret 'Hitman' Hart won this superb title. In my book it should go to the wrestler that has done most to support the sport, charity and above all the clean-cut image, and that is none other than Ric Flair (pictured above). Love him or hate him, he has class, style, and a great profile.

DIRK BOGARDE

The Rank Outsider

Now who'd have thought that he who gave us Dr. Simon Sparrow could ever become a swan?

Don't get me wrong, the highly successful 'Doctor' series is eminently worthy of a chortle or three, but when the credits finally roll, it's surely not the stuff of which thespian KBE's are made?

No, for that we have to look beyond the majority of the 30 or so films Sir Dirk made during his pin-up days as a Rank contract player from 1947-61. For there, eons away from the likes of 'The Blue Lamp' and 'The Sea Shall Not Have Them' was a screen presence of great depth, subtlety and excellence.

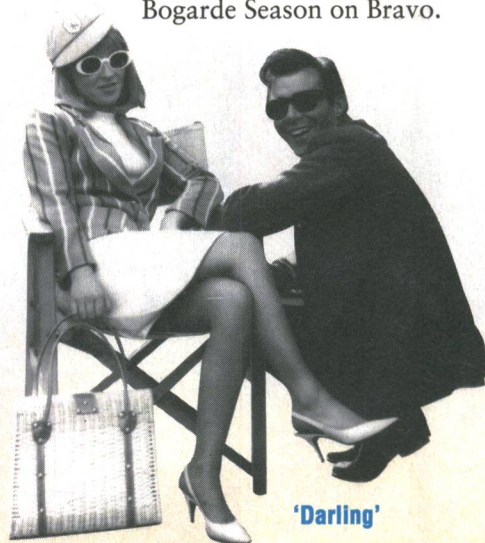

Joseph Losey certainly recognised and nurtured it when he cast Dirk Bogarde to play the sinister lead in 'The Servant'. Suddenly it was exit the perpetual leading man, enter a new leading light – a British screen actor, unaffected by the glitz of Tinseltown, who had risen above the domestic studio system to re-invent himself with greater ability and facility than he had ever promised before.

His partnership with Losey seemed to mark the birth of Bogarde's new era. Call it the attraction of two outsiders, for Losey was the victim of a system too – the Hollywood blacklist.

Two of their collaborative efforts feature in this month's Dirk

Bogarde Season on Bravo.

'Sleeping Tiger', Losey's first British feature made under the pseudonym 'Victor Hanbury', was also the first time he worked with Bogarde. An extravagant but compelling plot about a psychoanalyst who overpowers a criminal and

The Squire Has Fire

Meet James Hadleigh – the squire of Melford Park and Yorkshire's most eligible bachelor. Hadleigh has wealth, status, power and his pick of beautiful women. He's on first name terms with dukes, diplomats, politicians and city financiers. Yes, Hadleigh has everything...trouble is, he always wants more. Gerald Harper stars in Hadleigh, one of Yorkshire TV's most popular dramas. Coming to Bravo this October.

takes him home to find out what makes him tick.

In 'Accident', Bogarde plays an Oxford academic in love with one of his students, who reflects on the tangled web of relationships following an undergraduate's accidental death. Losey's tantalising and mannered interpretation of Harold Pinter's thought-provoking screenplay gives the whole piece a marvellous tension. Stanley Baker and Michael York co-star.

By 1965 Bogarde wasn't always guaranteed to get the girl especially when she was Julie Christie giving her Oscar winning best as a Sixties' dollybird in John Schlesinger's

'Darling'. Very watchable.

And finally, the gripping tale of 'The Mind Benders' in which Sir Dirk has his grey matter scrambled in a scientific experiment – trouble is they can't unscramble it... I know just how he feels sometimes.

Love you madly!

Among any public figure's army of fans are one or two unbalanced fanatics. Stephen King explored the dark side of popularity in 'Misery' . . .

Horror writer Stephen King was once asked for his autograph by a young man who described himself as 'your number-one fan'.

The stranger presented King with his 'special pen' and the author wrote as requested: 'Best wishes to Mark Chapman from Stephen King'.

The next year Chapman got John Lennon's autograph and then murdered him.

In King's chilling novel Misery the monstrous Annie Wilkes tells the writer she adores and has imprisoned, Paul Sheldon, that she is his number-one fan.

That novel was transformed into a first-rate celluloid shocker that is previewed on the Movie Channel this month. The book and the film pursue the themes of successful writers trapped by the demands of their avid readership and how the price of fame can be frighteningly high.

Like his Sheldon character, King has been known to churn out less-than-inspiring formula books to please his fans. The critics have derided King's weighty tomes but they always turn out to be monster successes with his huge readership. And like Sheldon, King has been stalked by nutty readers. One broke into King's home in Bangor, Maine, to accuse him of stealing the manuscript of Misery from his aunt.

▲ Nurse knows best: James Caan and Kathy Bates in 'Misery'

King was out at a basketball game at the time but his wife, Tabitha, was in. She managed to alert the neighbours. The police blocked off neighbouring streets for two hours before taking the intruder into custody.

Misery is probably an example of King imagining his worst nightmare.

Sheldon, played in the film by James Caan, writes hugely popular bodice-rippers centring on the character Misery Chastain.

He has just completed a more ambitious personal novel derived from his boyhood experiences, but then crashes his car in a mountain blizzard.

He is rescued by ex-nurse Wilkes (Oscar-winning Kathy Bates). The dowdy loner nurses the incapacitated writer and as a reward Sheldon lets her read his new manuscript.

She does not like it. It is not Misery and it has too much swearing in it for her liking.

She turns instead to the new Misery saga she has just bought. This time her disenchantment with Sheldon knows no bounds when Wilkes discovers that he has killed the heroine off.

She imprisons Sheldon, forces him to burn his new manuscript and start another that resurrects Misery. Her transformation from caring nurse to deranged guard is chilling.

Sheldon discovers newspaper clippings revealing that Wilkes is the 'Dragon Lady', a nurse accused of murdering children.

When Wilkes finds out that he has spied on her, Sheldon learns the true meaning of agony and misery.

Caan and Bates perform excellently together in a film that for once does justice to a Stephen King novel. Forget all those slash-er flicks, Misery is film-making that will have you in its clutches – a bit like Annie Wilkes! ■

Police work is kid's stuff for Arnie

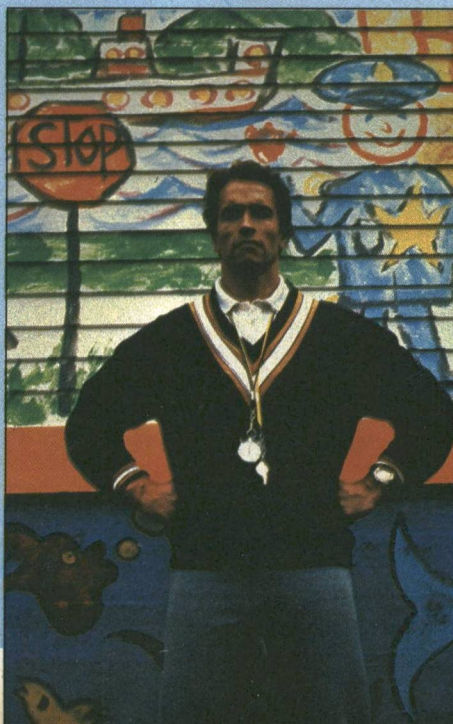

IN HIS action-adventure roles Arnold Schwarzenegger has dispatched all kinds of fiends from the future. But nothing has prepared him for the foes he encounters in the comedy Kindergarten Cop – children!

Working undercover as a teacher while trying to trace and protect the ex-wife of a vicious drug king, Arnie finds the six-year-olds more of a handful than run-of-the-mill murderers and psychos.

In his robotic delivery, the star said of the film: 'You always get surprised. You don't know what's going to happen next and nothing happens the same way twice.'

'I was always caught off-guard so I had to be quick to improvise. And I think those are the moments that work best because they are spontaneous.'

To love, cherish and terrify

DIRECTOR Joseph Ruben said of his hit thriller Sleeping with the Enemy: 'I'm not interested in making a movie about the occult or the devil.'

'I think there are enough scary things going on in the house next door.'

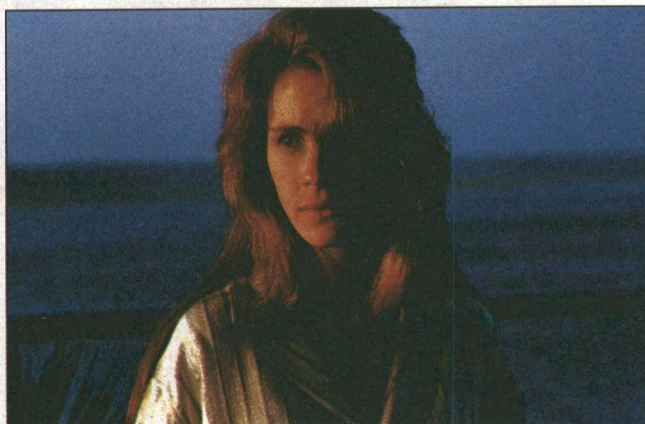

Julia Roberts plays Laura Burney, a young housewife whose seemingly perfect life harbours a terrifying secret. Faking her death and changing her identity may get her away from her psychotic husband, played by Irish actor Patrick Bergin. But for how long?

Of the script Ruben commented: 'There were things that scared the hell out of me. I was squirming and I felt that if something hit me hard on the page, it would have real impact for an audience when we put it on the screen.' ■

The big sleep

'I'D BEEN looking for a script like this for a long time,' said Robin Williams of Awakenings.

'I was reading it on an airplane and I was so moved that I started sobbing. It happened twice.

'The person next to me thought I was having a nervous breakdown.'

The film is a fictionalised version of the writings of Dr Oliver Sachs, a distinguished neurologist and best-selling author.

Williams plays Dr Malcolm Sayer (a character based on Sachs) who, in 1969, takes a job at a New York hospital, where he encounters an unusual group of patients. These 'living statues' neither move or speak but deep down they are very much alive.

They are the victims of a bizarre 'sleepy sickness' that between 1916 and 1927 ravaged the lives of nearly five million people. A third of these died in unshakeable comas.

Sayer strikes on the idea of administering a drug used to treat Parkinson's disease sufferers to some of the survivors in his care. They suddenly awake to find themselves in the 1960s.

Among the patients is Leonard Lowe, played by Robert De Niro. He gives a technically fine performance in an engrossing but ultimately sad story. ■

FILMS

A Shock To The System

The Movie Channel 8.30pm
 A gleefully malicious black comedy about advertising executive Graham Marshall (Michael Caine) who, passed over for promotion in favour of eager beaver Robert Benham (Peter Riegert), turns to murder as a sure-fire route to the top. However, as corpses begin to clog the corporate ladder, he finds himself trailed by an unconventional detective (an offbeat turn from Will Patton) and suspected by co-worker Elizabeth McGovern, best-remembered for her neo-classical performance as Debra in Sergio Leone's Once Upon A Time In America. Directed by Jan Egleson.

GENERAL

The Road Ahead Trilogy

The Learning Channel 2.00pm
 From 1987 to 1992 the countryside of Oxfordshire and Warwickshire was turned into the biggest building site of the decade. This was the construction of the M40 extension from Oxford to Birmingham. Filmed over eight years, The Road Ahead Trilogy documents the human and environmental story behind the construction of this 38-mile-long swathe of tarmac. The series talks to farmers and local people, and assesses the effect of the motorway on local communities in the area and on the landscape. The final programme will look at who lost and who gained from the construction.

SPORT

Pro-Box Special

Screensport 9.55pm
 Nigel Benn v Mauro Galvano for the WBC supermiddleweight title. After turning down the chance to fight Chris Eubank for the WBO version of this title, Benn tonight fights Italy's Mauro Galvano. The Italian won the title in 1990 and has made two successful defences of it since, one against Ron Essett and the other against Juan Gimenez. It is notoriously difficult for foreign fighters to win against Italians in Italy. But Benn has returned to the ring after a five-month break in 1991 looking very sharp. He has had six victories since his comeback.

With Julie Kavner, John Heard and Penelope Ann Miller, and directed by Penny Marshall.

FILMS

Felix The Cat - The Movie

The Movie Channel 4.35pm
A cartoon star for more than 70 years, which makes him more enduringly popular than Mickey Mouse, the fabulous feline favourite Felix the Cat, created in 1919, returns in this entertaining new animated adventure. When the Princess of the Kingdom of Oriana is kidnapped by the evil Duke of Zill, only Felix, with his magic bag of tricks and surprises, can save the once-happy land. Directed by Tibor A Belay.

GENERAL

Glorious Colour

The Learning Channel
As a painter Kaffe Fassett sees the world in terms of colour. A chance visit to a Scottish wool mill many years ago led him to develop another skill - knitting. Inspired by the texture and colour of natural yarns, Kaffe saw knitting as an ideal medium for his exploration of colour combinations. Today his work has established him as one of the country's leading textile and knitwear designers. He attributes his success to the fact that he has brought an artist's eye to the ancient art of knitting. The series looks at his life, inspirations and designs, and offers practical tips on knitting. 'Pin your work up from time to time', says Fassett, 'just as an artist does with a painting.'

SPORT

The Big League - Live

Sky Sports 7.00pm
Warrington v Bradford at the Wilderspool Stadium. Warrington finished fourth last season while Bradford narrowly avoided relegation and little change in form is expected this year. Bradford can boast one of the oldest players in the First Division in 34-year-old David Hobbs, but the most popular man among the supporters is Karl Fairbank, who toured and scored with the Lions this summer.

Below are general programme details - please watch your screens for changes.

Beginning a romance with his new employer's daughter Tina (Penelope Ann Miller) and escorting an understandably skittish Komodo Dragon around town, Clark soon begins to find real-life far more stimulating than the movies he's been studying.

Trapper John

Sky One 2.00pm
 A drama with comedy that pairs a Korean War Army Field surgeon with a younger Vietnam War counterpart at a San Francisco hospital. The one-time happy-go-lucky Trapper is now a mature Chief surgeon. But he sees himself in young Dr "Gonzo" Gates, who arrives at his rolling estate in a beat-up old motor home called "The Titanic" to apply for a job. The other members of the team are such formidable characters as Starch, Trapper's ex-Korea scrub nurse, Ripples, who'd rather be a nurse than a sex symbol, and the fatuous Dr Stanley Riverside II, head of Emergency Jackpot, a street smart intern. And there's Trapper's ex-wife, Melanie, whom he still loves, albeit grudgingly. Starring Pernell Bonanza Roberts, Mary McCarty, Charles Siebert and Christopher Norris.

FILMS

Henry V

Bravo 8.00pm
Olivier's performance is one of the most brilliant ever captured on film in this, the first film version of William Shakespeare's great drama. The entire film is superb in every detail, the battle scenes are brilliantly directed by Olivier himself, and the colour photography is breathtaking. Name checks, too, for British stalwarts Robert Newton, Leo Genn and Leslie Banks

Simpson Mania

They're back in full chaotic force this Autumn with a brand new series. Before the new series begins, however, Sky One will run its entire library of Simpsons episodes again, so if you've ever missed an episode, tune in and catch every gloriously funny moment of TV's most famous and wackily favourite family.

SPORT

International Speedway

FILMS
Avalon

The Movie Channel 7.55pm
The moving Barry Levinson drama focussing on an extended Jewish family headed by Sam Krichinsky (Armin Mueller-Stahl), a European emigre who arrives in Baltimore, USA, in the early 20th century. This beautifully-photographed film, which lovingly recreates and fondly celebrates an American way-of-life which has long-since ceased to be, follows the multi-generational family through the turbulent post-Second World War years and up to the 1960s, detailing the births, deaths, hopes, dreams, parties and squabbles that make up the rich emotional tapestry of the close-knit Krichinsky clan's life.

GENERAL
Teech

Sky One Teech
To satisfy federal hiring guidelines, the ultra-snobbish Fred Litton, headmaster of the exclusive Winthrop Academy for young men, hires a black teacher who previously taught music to inner city kids. Racial and class clashes abound in this comedy, as Teech Gibson attempts to settle into the rather staid and stuffy atmosphere of Winthrop.

SPORT
AMA Supercross

Sky Sports 10.30am
Daring riders tackle the man-made obstacles of the American stadium circuit, overcoming rockers, stutter bumps and leaping 30 feet into the air. This week's programme is from Houston, Texas.

Too Late The Hero

Bravo 8.00pm

Robert Aldrich tries the Dirty Dozen formula again. This time the setting is the Pacific sector in World War II, and the premise has a band of reluctant heroes required to get from one end of a Japanese-infested island to the other in order to transmit a decoy message to distract attention from the US fleet. The usual collection of cowards, bullies and wimps go along for the trip, but there are some excellent character sketches (Denholm Elliott and Ian Bannen, in particular), the action has its moments, and the bantering dialogue is often very funny.

GENERAL

A Brush With Ashley

The Learning Channel 1.00pm

Landscape artist Ashley Jackson shows us that watercolour painting can be both rewarding and easy. In the series, Ashley visits scenic locations in Yorkshire accompanied by three friends, all of whom are novice painters. Over the weeks we see how their paintings progress with Ashley's instruction, and gain helpful tips on sketching and painting techniques.

SPORT

The Big League - Live

Sky Sports 7.00pm

Salford v Castleford from the Willows, Salford. The home team are known to be erratic, having been close to relegation last season but managing to beat Wigan twice. This could be a factor of their youth and inexperience which makes them a fast exciting team to watch but prone to inconsistency. Castleford, in contrast are one of the favourites for the Championship with a host of internationals, including Graham Steadman and Lee Crooks.

Below are general programme details - please watch your screens for changes.

FILMS

Green Card

The Movie Channel 10.05pm

Gerard Depardieu's English-speaking debut, in which the hulking Gallic star plays a French immigrant who, living and working illegally in New York, marries native Andie MacDowell. She needs a husband in order to take possession of a dream apartment, but once the ceremony is over, the pair go their separate ways, neither one intending to see the other again, until a government investigation into fraudulent marriages forces them back together. As the couple frantically attempts to get to know one another and create some semblance of marital history, it soon becomes clear that, while they are as different as two people could possibly be, a trace of love lurks beneath the initial friction.

GENERAL

Treasure Hunters: The Old rebel and His Gold

The Discovery Channel 7.30pm

Somewhere in the caves of the Sierra Madre and the Sierra Diabolo in Mexico lies the gold hidden by the legendary Mexican revolutionary leader Pancho Villa. He gave rich landowners the choice of "Your money or your life", and those who failed to make their contribution to the revolution were shot. Professor Prieto, a modern-day treasure hunter, never rides unarmed into the mountains, while those less wary have been found in the Sierra with a bullet in the back. Will the legendary Pancho return one day to finance the next revolution?

Monday Night Football Live

Sky Sports 7.00pm
Aston Villa meet Blackburn Rovers at Villa Park, Birmingham. The managers are almost polar opposites: Kenny Dalglish so often seen on camera as sullen and unsmiling while Big Ron Atkinson is garrulous and always first with the witty one-liners. But both are renowned for their big spending in the transfer market. Dalglish has spent more than £10 million in less than 12 months taking Blackburn from the Second Division to the Premier League.

In Advance Of The Landing

The Discovery Channel 10.30pm

Are we alone in the Universe? Is it possible that we have been visited by aliens from outer space, or that we will one day in the not-too-distant future? Writer and photographer Douglas Curran spent eight years journeying through the bizarre world of starships, bug-eyed aliens and flying saucers, the world of UFO devotees. Whether their sightings are real or not, the fact remains that a phenomenon exists; UFO culture is everywhere in our popular press, films, music, literature and advertising. It is the stuff of dreams - will it one day be a proven reality?

Accident

Bravo 8.00pm

The death of an Oxford University student triggers off a haunting study in human relationships. Flashback sequences depict the middle-aged frustrations and anguish of 'The Don', better known as Dirk Bogarde, a married philosophy lecturer in love with one of his students, seductively played by Jacqueline Sassard. Watch out for Michael York in his first major role.

GENERAL

Treasure Hunters: Murderous islands

The Discovery Channel
Buried on remote islands, lost or sunk in the depths of oceans or lakes, the knowledge that treasure is waiting somewhere to be found has lured adventurers since time immemorial. Today's seekers of the Grail range from lone operators to multi-million dollar high-tech expeditions, some of whom are prepared to risk their lives.
A treasure trove in the depths of the sea, buried in the wrecks of innumerable ships... Many ships have come to grief on the treacherous granite rocks at the mouth of the English Channel. In times past, 'wreckers' lurked on the islands, the light from their lanterns luring hapless ships to their doom. It is said the wreckers tied their lanterns around the necks of their cows, to give their victims the impression of a bobbing ship between them and the land. This programme documents the highly dangerous salvage attempts at ships still laden with bounty.

Taylor faints before her fiancé at the altar, Roberts becomes involved with a rich law student while Gish, in some of the film's sweetest and most tender sequences, falls in love with a married man. A surprise success when released in 1989, a sequel to Mystic Pizza is currently in the planning stages, but with Roberts unwilling to return for a follow-up, the film is rumoured to open with the funeral of her character, Daisy.

FILMS

Dracula (1979)

The Movie Channel
10.30pm

Frank Langella brings his Broadway portrayal of Count Dracula to the big screen with the help of John Badham, best known at the time as the director of Saturday Night Fever. Although not the most faithful adaptation, this version features all the regular Gothic trappings and sinister seductiveness, jazzed up with some thoroughly modern psychedelic special effects. The scene where Laurence Olivier meets his dead daughter Jan Francis in the mine shaft is still one of the most terrifying to grace any Drac film in moviedom.

GENERAL

Treasure Hunters: The Mystery of the Templars

The Discovery Channel
7.30pm

Buried on remote islands, lost or sunk in the depths of oceans or lakes, the knowledge that treasure is somewhere waiting to be found has lured adventurers since time immemorial. Today's seekers of the Grail range from lone operators to multi-million dollar high-tech expeditions, some of whom are willing to risk their lives. 'This is the most impenetrable mystery which history has ever bestowed upon posterity,' declared the Abbe de Vertot. Somewhere in the corridors of dilapidated fortresses in France, a great fortune once owned by the Knights Templars, secretive 'Soldiers of God', is said to be hidden.

British Lions captain joins Sky

FRESH FROM leading the Lions squad in all six tests in Australia and New Zealand, Garry Schofield is facing a sterner test of character, that of sharing a studio with the inimitable Boots 'n' All team Eddie Hemmings and Mike Stephenson. He will also be commentating on Sky's planned coverage of Under 18 rugby.

In spite of his new role at Sky, the articulate Yorkshireman is not giving up his day job just yet.

'I'm not about to retire, but working at Sky is something that I'm very excited about. It will give me my first chance to work in the media, and that is something that holds a lot of appeal for when I do hang up my boots.

'I think Eddie and Stevo are a couple of genuine fellas. They're the best two commentators in the game, and I'm looking forward to working with them. This is a whole new challenge for me.

'I won't be trying to compete with Stevo's line in shirts, but I am considering shaving my head!'

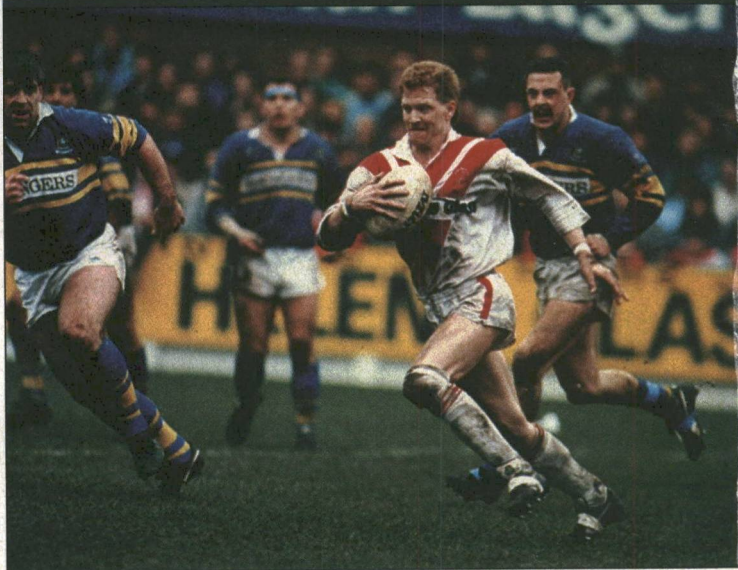

This season Sky Sports will screen some of the most comprehensive Rugby League coverage ever seen on British television, with more than 60 domestic matches, 30 of them live. Of the Championship games, 26 will go out live on Friday evenings, with a further 26 games being shown on Sunday evenings. ■

Forthcoming fixtures on Sky Sports include:

Friday 2nd: Wakefield vs St Helens
Friday 9th: Warrington vs Bradford
Friday 16th: Salford vs Castleford
